

RESTLESS

She'd kill for a good night's sleep.

RESTLESS is a contemporary psychological thriller that tells the story of a woman who refuses to sleep until she has found her missing husband.

Over ten sleep-deprived days, Catherine conducts her own murder investigation, fends off the suspicions of the Metropolitan police, and confronts her husband's secret lover – who might hold the key to his disappearance.

Ten days is as long as anyone has gone without sleep – and lived. As the paranoia and hallucinations set in, Catherine faces a race against the clock to uncover the truth, before she loses everything.

Paul Cunliffe has worked for various specialist interest publishers, across brands such as NME, Marie Claire, IdealHome and TechRadar – all in a commercial or strategic capacity. As of 2020, Paul owns and runs ShortList Media Limited, who publish the site Shortlist.com. Paul graduated from the City University Crime Writing MA in 2019, winning the Mulcahy prize that year. Paul lives in North London.

PAUL CUNLIFFE

A tense and gripping psychological thriller from debut novelist, Paul Cunliffe.

On Submission

Primary Agent: Jane Gregory

Translation Rights: DHA

Film/TV Rights: DHA

Extent: 100,000 words

Draft due: May 2021