

DHA Open Day

for Under-Represented Writers*

Thursday 30th January

Do you have an under-represented voice?
Do you write fiction for adults?
Do you want to know more about the publishing industry?

At David Higham Associates we're looking to open out the ways in which we connect with new writers with under-represented voices. We're inviting 10 authors to our London offices to meet industry experts, learn insider information about the publishing process and receive tailored feedback on their work.

travel expenses provided

When applying via our website be sure to include:

The first three chapters of your work

A one-page synopsis

A completed application form

Apply by

Monday 16th September

For more information and to apply please visit www.davidhigham.co.uk/dhaopenday

*Including LGBTQ+ writers, BAME writers, writers from cultural and religious minorities, writers from working-class backgrounds and disabled writers

@dhabooks

@davidhighambooks

openday@davidhigham.co.uk