

Jane Gregory: submission guidelines

If you would like to submit your work to Jane Gregory, please send a one-page synopsis (not a glorified jacket blurb) that gives a full explanation of the plot, and the first three chapters or up to fifty pages (double spaced for ease of reading) if submitting by email and the first ten pages (double spaced for ease of reading) if submitting by post. Please include a brief letter telling us about yourself, why you have written this book, and about your past work and future writing plans.

You can submit via post or email to:

Please put the word SUBMISSION before your book's title in the subject line, so we can distinguish your message from the huge volume of spam that we receive.

We regret that we are unable to return material. It will be recycled. If you would like us to respond by post (a standard letter), please enclose a SAE. If you have not heard from us after six weeks you should assume your submission is not suitable for Jane's list. In the event that you do not hear from us, please accept our best wishes for your success in finding suitable representation elsewhere. Please do not send the whole typescript, either by post or by email, unless we have specifically asked for it. Unsolicited typescripts will be recycled. If we are interested in taking your submission further, you will hear from us within 4-6 weeks.

We also ask that you do not send us LinkedIn requests as they will be automatically blocked, and your email address classified as Spam or Junk.
